POST 1 · PRESSURE WASHING · TIP

Why pressure washing is a pro job

Pressure washing looks easy in videos, but it's not a great DIY project. ⚠️ High-pressure spray can injure skin and eyes, strip paint and damage siding, wood and windows. Water forced behind siding can also cause hidden problems. Pros use the right equipment, settings and methods for each surface. Save yourself the risk and call [YOUR COMPANY] at [PHONE].

POST 2 · PRESSURE WASHING · TIP

Get your home holiday-ready

Guests coming over? First impressions start at the curb. 🏡 Clear leaves off your walkways and steps, look for slick or green spots on paths, and pick up clutter by the front door. Want your driveway and walkways looking their best for the holidays? Call [YOUR COMPANY] at [PHONE] to book a wash.

POST 3 · PRESSURE WASHING · EDUCATIONAL

Can I get pressure washing in winter?

Good question! ❄️ It often depends on your weather. Washing is usually best on milder days when it's well above freezing, so water doesn't turn to ice on walkways. We'll look at your forecast and recommend the best timing for your home. Ask [YOUR COMPANY] at [PHONE].

POST 4 · PRESSURE WASHING · MYTH-BUSTER

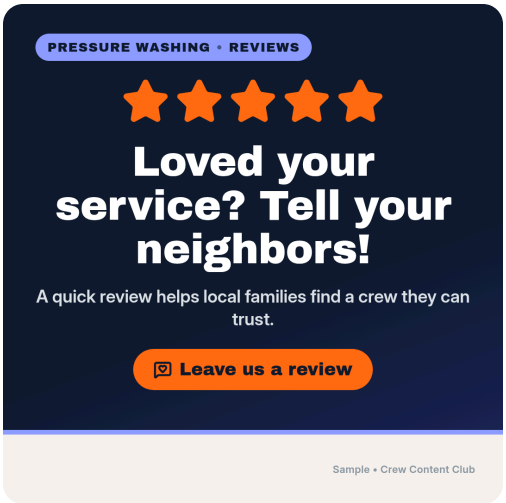

More pressure = cleaner?

Myth: higher pressure always cleans better. 💦 Fact: too much pressure can etch concrete, splinter wood and damage siding and roofing. Different surfaces need different methods, and sometimes a gentler wash is the right call. That's what pros are trained for. Call [YOUR COMPANY] at [PHONE] for a safe, thorough clean.
